CARDS AND LETTERS.

Cards and letters play an important part in social life. They are accountable for more misunderstandings, fractured friendships and broken engagements than can be charged up to any other one cause. An amiable woman who had always been on good terms with her neighbors, even the most exacting of them, was puzzled to be cut dead by one to whom only a few weeks before, she had loaned her best platter. The attitude of the aggrieved one was so coldly hostile that a explanation could be asked. Indeed, none was necessary, for the circumstance explained itself a day later. The invitation to a large party to which all the neighborhood was asked, intended for her, dropped out of the Family Bible. How it came there, no one knew. That it had not been discovered before, was not because the Bible was never read in that particular family, but because a smaller and more convenient one was commonly used.

Another victim of invitations that failed of their destination until too late, committed them to a post box. Where they traveled to before they finally reached the persons to whom they were addressed, could never be ascertained. But the poor hostess who had made preparations for several hundred guests, chagrined at the small number of acceptances, wondered what had become of all the others who had not even had the grace to send their regrets.

If invitations are not left at the house, the only other safe plan is to post them at the office—never in a post box. Accidents may happen then, no matter how good may be the intentions of the postman. Where one calls on a friend at another time than her receiving day, cards left, should she be out, have also a perverse way of going astray. Unless the Japanese maid understands English, it is never safe to trust either to her hands or her memory. The cards should be followed by a note of explanation. A very wise and methodical woman who usually does the right thing, makes it a rule never to leave cards upon friends at hotels, in their absence, without enclosing them in envelopes, clearly and legibly addressed.

Mr. Harry Cobb was host last Friday night to a delightful dinner party at the Young Hotel. It was given in honor of Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, who goes to the Coast very shortly for an extended visit. The table decorations were violets and maidenhair fern, and in the stead of place cards were lavender strips of ribbon with the guests' names imprinted in gilt upon each; these were attached to a bouquet of violets for the ladies and a boutonniere of violets for the gentlemen. After the guests finished their delicious repast they attended the opening performance of the Ellefords at the Orpheum.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Major and Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild, Miss Macfarlane, Capt. Humphrey, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Capt. Heldt, Miss Lady Macfarlane.

Dr. Emma Carson, who has been visiting Honolulu for the past two months, after a much needed rest from her arduous professional duties at Catalina Island, returns home on the China.

Mrs. Lucy Meyers and son, of Chicago, who have been staying at the Moana, are departing passengers on the Korea for the Orient. They are on a trip around the world.

Manager Bews and wife entertained Dr. Cooper at dinner the evening before he sailed with the Shriners for Los Angeles.

There were many theater parties observed at the Orpheum last Friday night among the elite of the city. It is to be hoped the good attendance will keep up, as the management is worthy of encouragement.

Manager and Mrs. Bews entertained at dinner at the Hawaiian Hotel last Friday night Postmaster Joseph Pratt and Mrs. Pratt and Mr. and Mrs. Barnes.

Mrs. Grace Wing Crockett announces the engagement of her sister, Mrs. Mabel Wing Castle, to Mr. Walter Gifford Smith. Mrs. Castle and her daughter Ellnor will sail on the China, en route to New England, and after a visit there will go to Europe. The wedding will probably take place next year in Germany and a return to Honolulu will be made by way of Suez, India and Japan.

M. J. Bissell has removed to College

Hills to the house formerly occupied by J. H. Drew.

The arrival of Mr. Jack London in the Shark is looked forward to with pleasant anticipation by certain society folk who will doubtless wine and dine him most hospitably. After many rumored departures, he is said to have really sailed from San Francisco and may be expected here shortly, wind, weather and his navigating officer permitting.

A young woman, well known in Honolulu, has a great aversion to appearing in print. When urged to give her reasons she finally confessed that she had once submitted to being interviewed in Los Angeles. When the paper appeared she read an account of herself which was "all of a piece," and which began: "Miss X. was born of poor but honest parents."

There are no people in Honolulu who entertain more charmingly than Mr. and Mrs. Clive Davies. They, themselves, enjoy the hospitality that their guests find so satisfying, and their invitations are never declined except unavoidably. The garden party given on Thursday afternoon at their pleasant home in Nuuanu Valley was one of the most brilliant social functions of the season. The handsome grounds were never more attractive, and made a fine setting for the dainty and tasteful toilets of the ladies present. In addition to an elaborate tea, a Japanese juggler had been engaged to entertain the guests, a platform being erected for his convenience, making it throughout an open-air entertainment. With the cleverness of his calling, he performed many wonderful feats that were warmly applauded. Amongst them, he produced from his magic wallet, by some species of legerdemain, pretty Japanese umbrellas that were distributed as souvenirs. Amongst those present were Queen Liliuokalani, Princess Kalaniana'ole, Governor and Mrs. Carter, Mr. Cleghorn, Mr. Percy Cleghorn, Mr. and Mrs. E. Knudsen, Mr. Rycroft, Miss Greenwell, Miss Soper, Mr. and Mrs. Soper, Mrs. Douglas, Miss Douglas, Major and Mrs. Van Vleet, Mr. Mark Robinson, Mr. Allen Robinson, Mr. Archie Robertson, Mrs. Mist, Miss Mist, Mr. Mist, Miss Macgown, Mrs. Kinney, Miss Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. A. Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. T. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Rycroft, Miss Rycroft, Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer, Miss Schaefer, Miss E. Schaefer, Judge and Mrs. Dole, Miss Angus, Miss Jean Angus, Miss Desky, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mist, Miss Young, Mr. and Mrs. von Hamm, Rev. A. Mackintosh, Mr. A. Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. von Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Freeth, Miss Freeth, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mr. R. Catton, Mr. and Mrs. Day, Dr. Armitage, Mr. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Judd, Mr. and Mrs. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Hawes, Mr. and Mrs. A. Young, Miss Edmonds, Miss von Holt, Bishop Restarick, Mrs. Restarick, Miss Restarick, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Macfarlane, Miss Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Swanzy.

A dinner was given Saturday evening in honor of Captain Metcalf at the Young Hotel. Captain Metcalf has been in Honolulu for several weeks, one of the leading witnesses in the great Manchuria case. He has and deserves the credit of having saved the ship. The host was Mr. E. B. McClanahan. Unfortunately, he became ill at the last moment, and Mr. Derby presided in his stead. The table decorations, which were most unique, have never been surpassed in Honolulu. In the center of the circular table was a perfect representation of the harbor of Honolulu—a sheet of water upon which floated a miniature Manchuria with a tug beside her. The water was encircled with a reef of sand and coral, from which sprang a miniature grove of graceful coconut trees. The whole design outlined with a fringe of exquisite maidenhair ferns and splendid American Beauty roses from the gardens of Mrs. McClanahan's Manoa Valley home, the design in its entirety being an original idea of her own. Beside the guest of honor, Captain Metcalf, there were present Captain Combe, Captain Saunders, Mr. Pillsbury, Mr. Marx, Mr. Gaines and Mr. Klebahn. The chef of the hotel, Mr. Louis Chavallier, surpassed himself, the menu affording him an opportunity to display his highest skill. It was as follows: Manchuria Cocktail. Caviar sur Drums. Fresh Oysters Comine la Baitou. Soup, Essence of Chicken, Pillsbury Style. Foeh Brande de Klebahn. Planked Kuma de Waimanalo (hooked by Rear Admiral Combe). Marr. Cucumbers. The Gaines Potato. Grapnel Rope Patties. Saunders Filet Mignon. Equalizing Strain Punch. Restorer Champagne 1856 (from the Metcalf cellars). Roast Teal Duck (Metcalf's Little Flyer). Fried Hominy de Derbie. Manning Potato Croquettes. Dutch Salad, McClanahan Style. Midway Ice Cream. Roquefort Cheese (salved from Sheridan). Cafe Noir ex Mongolia. Engineroom Creme de Menthe Force. Aussi Distressed Fruit and Nuts de la Mare.

The advent of the Congressional party is the next great social event. Their arrival here will be an occasion for all manner of entertaining from dinners to luaus, drives, motor parties, and probably a ball. The ostensible object of the expedition is to give the committee an accurate idea of the resources of the country, but frequent opportunities will be afforded to see something of the social life as well.

LOUIS CHEVALIER, THE GREAT CHEF OF THE ALEXANDER YOUNG HOTEL.

BEFORE THE DAYS OF RACE SUICIDE.

Housewife of 1830 (to her new hired-girl).—Yes, Eliza, you will find it a nice, easy place. My brother, the Chaplain, is away at sea, and my two oldest boys are at boarding school, so you'll have to cook and wash for only fifteen.

ney westward by easy stages. She is at present with relatives in Minneapolis. She will receive a warm welcome not only by her own family, but by her hosts of friends, in which her sister will share.

Mrs. J. M. Whitney has been having a touch of the all-prevalent dengue. She is now convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hall, who returned last week from Maui, are highly pleased with their outing. Mrs. Hall's last visit to Maui was made fifteen years ago. They circumnavigated the island, visited the rubber plantation in which Mr. Hall is interested, and also taking a look at the pineapple plantation. Mr. and Mrs. Hall visited the Rev. Mr. Dodge at Kahului and other old friends.
